

High Tech Search for Missing Woman

Reported by: Adam Paluka

Thursday, Aug 2, 2007 @04:40pm EST

Sykesville, PA - Police have gone high tech in their search for a missing Jefferson County woman.

Today, police continued to search for Joey Lynn Offutt, and they have a new tool to help find the missing mother. A website, www.joeyoffutt.com, has details of the case as well as information about how visitors can help find Offutt.

Last month, Offutt's Jefferson County home was destroyed in a fire and infant remains, possibly those of her six week old son, were found in the ashes. She disappeared around the same time as the fire.

Pennsylvania Crime Stoppers is now offering a reward up to $2,000.00 for information leading to the whereabouts of Ms. Offutt.